

FOR YOUR NEW WEBSITE

DESIGN PROPOSAL

Prepared for Northwind Coffee Roasters · Small batch roastery

Before you start

Here is what your new website could look like: the structure, and three design directions for the homepage. This is about layout, look and feel, not the final copy and not your real photos. Have a look and tell us which direction feels most like you.

HOMEPAGE, TOP TO BOTTOM

THREE DIRECTIONS

NO DECISION NEEDED TODAY

HOW TO READ THIS DOCUMENT

WHAT TO EXPECT

Three steps. Nothing to prepare. Read it in your own time and tell us afterwards what you like.

1

THE STRUCTURE

First we show which sections your homepage has and what goes in each one.

2

THREE DIRECTIONS

Then three design worlds for the same page. Notice which one feels most like you.

3

YOUR CHOICE

You tell us which direction fits. A mix is fine too. We build the rest.

SECTION BY SECTION

TOP TO BOTTOM

Three sections, in the order someone scrolls them. The first screen decides whether they stay.

1 HERO

What you do and where · a button to order

2 THE BEANS

Three current beans · origin and tasting notes

3 VISIT

Saturday opening · how to find the roastery

The bean list changes with the season, so that section is built to be edited by you without touching the layout.

THREE WAYS TO GO

PICK A FEELING

Same structure, same words, three different worlds. Look at which one you would want to walk into.

AWARM AND PLAYFUL

Cream paper, a serif headline, soft corners. Reads like a neighbourhood place that has been there a while.

BBRIGHT AND PHOTOGRAPHIC

White, lots of air, one green accent. The photography does the talking. Closest to a specialty shop.

CBOLD AND COLOURFUL

Dark page, bright tiles, one yellow. Loud, confident, harder to forget. Least like the others.

ONLY THE GAPS

WHAT WE STILL NEED

Most of it is already in your brief. These are the few things we could not answer from it, and they are the reason some text above is a placeholder.

PHOTOS

- Do you have photos of the roastery and the drum?
- Can we photograph the Saturday opening?
- Are there portraits of the two of you?

BEANS

- How often does the bean list actually change?
- Who edits it, and with what tool today?

ORDERING

- Should people order online, or only enquire?
- Is wholesale a separate route with its own page?

PRACTICAL

- Exact Saturday opening hours?
- One language, or also a second?

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT

1

PICK A DIRECTION

Tell us which of the three fits best. A mix is allowed.

2

REFINE

We tune type, colour and imagery to you and your real photos.

3

BUILD

We build the finished site, mobile first, with a simple way to order.

YOU DO NOT HAVE TO DECIDE TODAY

Look at the three directions in your own time and just tell us what you like and what you do not. Both are useful.
